Chapter 1:

Perfume has been used for centuries to enhance beauty, attract love, and create a sense of well-being. The ancient Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans all used perfumes, and the art of perfumery has been passed down through the generations.

Today, perfume is a multi-billion dollar industry, and there are thousands of different fragrances available. But which ones are the best? Which ones are the most iconic? Which ones will stand the test of time?

The Little Book of Perfumes: The Hundred Classics answers these questions by presenting the 100 most beloved perfumes of all time. These are the fragrances that have defined generations, that have been worn by royalty and celebrities, and that have left an indelible mark on the world of perfumery.

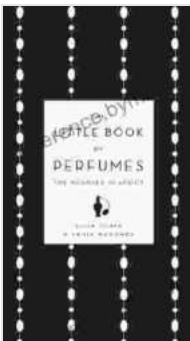

From Chanel No. 5 to Dior J'adore, from Guerlain Shalimar to Tom Ford Black Orchid, these are the perfumes that have captured the hearts and imaginations of millions. They are the fragrances that we will never forget.
